

Executive Briefing Centers

Protect. Detect. Correct.

McAfee believes that an open and integrated system best enables organizations to effectively block threats, identify compromises, and expedite remediation. It's at the center of our commitment to enable a safe and connected world. Building on our leading endpoint protection solutions, diverse technologies, and widely adopted and open centralized management platform, we can help you expedite the entire threat defense lifecycle.

We invite you to meet with us at our one of our McAfee® Executive Briefing Centers. There we can spend the day with you engaged in strategic discussions about your business challenges and opportunities. You will have the opportunity to collaborate with McAfee executives and product expert to get a deeper look at our security technology and solutions. At our McAfee Executive Briefing Centers, we can focus on your particular security needs and create a plan for a successful, optimized end-to-end security strategy.

McAfee Solutions in Action

The McAfee Executive Briefing Centers feature facilities where you can collaborate with us and experience the entire portfolio of McAfee solutions. You will also be able to view our Security Operations Centers (SOC), "The War Room," where our enterprise information systems (web sites, applications, databases, data centers and servers, networks, and endpoints) are monitored, assessed, and defended. You will see firsthand our innovative ways of taking on security challenges at our dedicated demonstration facilities.

Connect with the McAfee Team

Most importantly, the McAfee Executive Briefing Centers offer what no brochure, website, or field sales meeting can provide—a place to exchange ideas, develop and enhance relationships, and make connections and partnerships with the individuals who can help you select the McAfee solutions that will optimize your business and your security.

We look forward to our discussions with you at an McAfee Executive Briefing Center and to learning how McAfee can meet the security needs of your enterprise. Contact your McAfee Account Executive today to arrange a briefing.
